1 INTRODUCTION

In addition to publishing statistics on a State or Australia-wide basis the ABS also publishes a considerable range of statistics for small areas (that is areas smaller than a State or Territory). This catalogue has been prepared to provide information about what is published and where it may be found. It contains a subject index, an area index, a list of ABS publications containing small area data, and a description of those types of small areas that are not described in other ABS publications.

SCOPE OF THIS CATALOGUE

This catalogue lists all recent publications containing small area data, whether they were released monthly, quarterly, annually, or whether they were special or one-off releases. Data releases on microfiche and magnetic tape that have been published have also been included. One-off publications are included only for the period from January 1975 onwards; earlier publications were deemed to be of little interest at this stage. The catalogue also does not include any new publications released after 31 March 1983.

UNPUBLISHED STATISTICS

For economic reasons the ABS does not publish all the statistics and other information it has available.

Unpublished statistics are available, on request, for a variety of topics such as population, dwellings, building, imports, exports, shipping etc., in the form of computer printout, microfiche, magnetic tape or specially prepared tables.

In cases where a considerable volume of data has to be specially extracted or where a regular statistical service is required, a charge may be made.

Inquiries on the availability of unpublished statistics should be directed to Information Services at the ABS office in any capital city (see addresses at the end of this Section).

HOW TO USE THIS CATALOGUE

The catalogue is divided into five sections. The first contains, as well as the introduction, information on how to order any publications or maps in this catalogue that may be of interest to the user.

Section 2 contains a list of the different types of small areas ABS uses in statistical publications. As most of these types of small area are described in other ABS publications, the descriptions are not repeated here. Instead, the name and ABS catalogue number of the publication containing the description, or an appropriate contact, is given. The remaining types of small area are described here; wherever possible these types of small area have been related to local government areas, statistical divisions, statistical subdivisions and statistical districts as at the 30 June 1981 Census. Those types of small area that are common to all of Australia (eg local government areas, postcode areas) are listed first. Other types of areas are used by only one State for the presentation of statistics (eg hundreds and counties are used to present South Australian agricultural statistics); these are listed alphabetically by State.

The following statistical maps which may be useful in interpreting the data are available from Information Services in any ABS office at a cost of 50 cents each. ABS office addresses are listed at the end of this Section.

- 1 New South Wales Statistical Divisions
- 2 Sydney Statistical Division
- 3 New South Wales Statistical Districts
- 4 Victorian Statistical Divisions
- 5 Melbourne Statistical Division
- 6 Victorian Statistical Districts
- 7 Queensland Statistical Divisions
- 8 Brisbane Statistical Division
- 9 Queensland Statistical Districts
- 10 South Australian Statistical Divisions
- 11 Adelaide Statistical Division
- 12 South Australian Statistical Districts
- 13 Western Australian Statistical Divisions
- 14 Perth Statistical Division
- 15 Tasmanian Statistical Divisions
- 16 Hobart Statistical Division
- 17 Northern Territory Statistical Divisions
- 18 Darwin Statistical Division
- 19 Australian Capital Territory Statistical Division

Section 3 consists of a list of those ABS publications containing small area statistics. Magnetic tape and microfiche releases containing small area data have also been included. For each publication the name, catalogue number and frequency of release of the publication are given. The year of release is also given for once-only publications, and the price is given for priced publications. The list has been compiled for each State and Territory in turn, followed by a list of those publications that contain small area data from more than one State. For instance, a number of publications contain statistics from each of the State capital cities.

Section 4 consists of a subject index of the publications containing small area statistics. When using this index it should be remembered that the last digit of the catalogue number of each publication indicates the State to which it refers. For example, 1304.1 is a New South Wales publication, while 1304.4 is a South Australian publication.

Section 5 consists of an area index, that is, a list of all the different types of small area occurring in ABS publications, together with the catalogue number of each publication in which that type of small area occurs.

THE ABS CATALOGUE NUMBERING SYSTEM

The system consists of a five digit code (eg 5402.3).

The first two digits define the subject by nine broad areas (eg 5 represents national accounts, balance of payments and foreign investment, overseas trade, public finance, private finance) divided into nine more precise subdivisions (eg 54 is overseas trade).

The third and fourth digits are the permanent serial numbers allocated to publications within categories formed by the first two digits. An allotted number will remain unchanged provided the contents of a publication remain essentially the same. Numbers are allotted sequentially as new publications are released.

The fifth digit, after the full stop, relates to the ABS office which issues the publication. The codes for each issuing office are:

0	Central Office (Canberra)
1	New South Wales
2	Victoria
3	Queensland
4	South Australia
5	Western Australia
6	Tasmania
7	Northern Territory

2 DESCRIPTION OF TYPES OF SMALL AREAS USED IN ABS PUBLICATIONS

ABS publishes small area data for a number of different types of small area. Most of these are described in the publication containing the data, and in such cases only the name and catalogue number of the appropriate ABS publication are given here. For the remaining small areas a description of the type of small area and in some instances a list of the areas involved is provided; in other instances a contact point is given.

POSTCODE AREAS

Postcode areas have been developed by Australia Post for the efficient delivery of mail. In urban centres their boundaries generally coincide with suburb boundaries. Further information about these areas can be obtained from Australia Post.

RAINFALL STATIONS AND DISTRICTS

Rainfall stations are generally located at an urban centre or bounded rural locality. The Bureau of Meteorology has divided Australia into 99 rainfall districts. Further details, including a map of the rainfall districts, are available from the Bureau of Meteorology.

SECTION OF STATE (CENSUS)

A definition of section of State as used in compiling Census statistics is given in the publication "Census 81 - Microfiche" (ABS catalogue no 2145.0).

SPECIAL CENSUS AREAS

Statistics from the 1981 Census have been presented for a number of special areas as well as for more general areas such as local government areas and statistical divisions. These areas have not been described in this publication, but information about them can be obtained from the ABS offices listed in Section 1. The special areas include journey-to-work study areas (Australia-wide), social security areas (Australia-wide), Victorian regional boundaries, Department of Community Welfare

Services planning regions (Victoria), Westernport Planning regions (Victoria), Department of Community Welfare districts (South Australia), Department of Labour and Industry areas (Tasmania), Commonwealth Employment Service offices (Tasmania), Education Department catchment areas (Tasmania), Metropolitan Transport Trust areas (Tasmania) and Fire Brigade areas (Tasmania).

STATISTICAL RETAIL AREAS

Descriptions and maps can be obtained from some of the Census of Retail and Selected Service Establishments publications (ie ABS catalogue nos 8623.1 to 8623.6, 8622.7).

URBAN CENTRES

A definition of urban centres is given in the publication "Census 81 - Maps" (ABS catalogue no 2146.0).

BATHURST-ORANGE REGION

A definition is given in the publication "Bathurst-Orange Population Count" (ABS catalogue no 3204.1).

CENTRAL BUSINESS DISTRICTS OF CHATSWOOD, NORTH SYDNEY, PARRAMATTA AND SYDNEY

Descriptions are given in the publication "Survey of Car Parking Use, Central Business Districts of Sydney, North Sydney, Chatswood and Parramatta" (ABS catalogue no 9201.1).

COAL DISTRICTS - NEW SOUTH WALES

The Joint Coal Board (JCB) collects statistical information concerning the New South Wales coal industry and performs regulatory functions. For administrative purposes it has placed each coal mine in a district, which is usually centred around a town. Since ABS publishes coal data on a broad basis, it uses groups of the JCB districts. Thus the ABS Northern District comprises three JCB districts: South Maitland (mines in the vicinity of Cessnock), the Singleton-North West district (mines in the Singleton-Muswellbrook area, and near Grafton, Gunnedah and Inverell), and the Newcastle district (mines within a roughly triangular area bounded by Maitland, Newcastle and Wyong). The ABS Southern District comprises mines in the Burragorang Valley and the South Coast district. The ABS Western District comprises the mines concentrated around Lighthow, but includes the mines near Kandos and Ulan.

In general the three principal districts used to publish coal data are not rigidly defined. They are roughly prescribed by their geographical situation in relation to Sydney.

COUNTY DISTRICTS - NEW SOUTH WALES

County districts are groups of local government areas that are set up to administer some service, such as gas supply or abattoir. List 3 names the county districts in New South Wales, together with the purpose for which the county district was set up and the local government areas within the county district.

5 AREA INDEX

For each type of small area for which the ABS publishes data, this index lists the publication numbers in which the data occurs. The areas listed here reflect the occurrence of these areas in ABS publications, and are thus at varying levels of detail. For example, Geelong region is mentioned specifically because a population count of the region was done and the results published. Any other publications containing information about Geelong can be referenced under the heading "Local government area", rather than under "Geelong region". Similarly, those publications containing information about Sydney Statistical Division only can be found under the heading "Sydney Statistical Division", while those publications containing information about all the statistical divisions in New South Wales (including Sydney Statistical Division) are referenced under "Statistical divisions" but not under "Sydney Statistical Division". Note that microfiche and magnetic tape publications from the 1981 Census of Population and Housing are identified by a microfiche batch number or a tape identification mnemonic rather than a catalogue number; such publications are indicated by a "M" in this index. Further information about these publications can be obtained from the publications "Census 81 - Microfiche" (ABS catalogue no 2145.0) and "Census 81 - Magnetic Tape Summary Files" (ABS catalogue no 2143.0).
